Information collected by surveyors in the DOMM Pilot Study in 2004 in Tov Aimag

ТӨЛҮ 015 Doloodin Jas (Rinchen 384: Doloodin Khoural)

Current situation (2004)

The Tuul River runs close to the site of the Doloodin Jas. The main Dugan of Doloodin Jas was made of wood. (Measurements: 4.90 metres (to the SE) x 4.40metres (to the NE). At the time of the survey there were only some big stones on the ground indicating the size of the original dugan.

The Jasin Khudag, the watermill of Doloodin Jas, was to the southeast of the Jas (towards the Tuul river and about 7 m below the level of the Jas at the elevation of 1007metres). The watermill is still working and according to local people the water is high quality and very clear. They told how six or seven years ago some monks from Ulaanbaatar came to do some rituals with the water in connection with mountain-worship.
